Providing a home for transplant patients and their families.
Twice Blessed House (TBH) is a community of 44 apartments dedicated to serving pre and post transplant patients at Baylor University Medical Center at Dallas by providing a warm family atmosphere and amenities needed for daily living.

TBH is designed to offer patients and their caregivers temporary, affordable housing during the transplant evaluation process and while recovering post transplant at Baylor Dallas. Whether it’s providing directions, information or a listening ear, TBH staff is here for patients and their loved ones.

Our goal at Baylor and TBH is to make your transplantation experience as comfortable as possible both in and out of the hospital.
Be Our Guest

“You need a transplant.” It’s perhaps the most frightening statement you could hear from your doctor. You have a number of questions: How long will I have to wait before receiving the transplant? What do I need to do to prepare for the transplant? What is the recovery process like?

For patients who don’t live near a transplant center, it presents an additional challenge: Where will I stay while preparing for my procedure and during recovery?

Twice Blessed House (TBH) provides a home away from home for patients living more than 50 miles away from the transplant center on the campus of Baylor University Medical Center at Dallas. TBH is dedicated to providing transplant patients and their caregivers affordable housing in a supportive environment with all the amenities needed for daily living.

TBH is annually recognized for excellence through OptumHealth’s Client Choice Award program based on the opinions of their transplant clients.

Part of a Family

Besides Twice Blessed House’s great location and comfortable amenities, one of the best things about it is that it is a community of transplant patients who are at different stages of their transplant experience. Patients and their caregivers are provided numerous opportunities to build relationships with one another through frequent community activities such as weekly dinners, arts & craft nights, game nights, movie nights & various outings.

Patients and their caregivers are there to support each other in a way that only other transplant recipients can. Fellow patients can be a source of hope, strength and inspiration. TBH is a place where special friendships are made, and life-long bonds are formed not only among patients, but among families and caregivers as well.

Location! Location! Location!

Twice Blessed House is conveniently located a few blocks from Baylor Dallas, just outside of downtown and less than 30 minutes from both DFW International Airport and Love Field Airport. It is also just down the street from Baylor Institute for Rehabilitation, where some patients may receive post transplant rehabilitation therapy.

The complex is a block away from a DART train stop, giving TBH residents easy access to Dallas shopping, fine dining and entertainment, including the downtown Arts District, which is home to the Dallas Museum of Art and many other cultural activities.
